YOUR OPTIONS

After the cremation, you will receive your loved one's ashes in a temporary container. The remains can be buried, interred or scattered, but for many of us, keeping a loved one at home can be comforting. Alternatively, you might want to share the ashes, and for this, small keepsakes and jewellery mean you can always keep them close. Below is a guide to the options available to you, with accompanying icons to help you easily find a suitable product. Please note, our categories are intended as a guide. Items that can be used in more than one category (e.g. for the home and for interment & burial) will be highlighted using the icons displayed below.

FOR THE HOME

We have a selection of ash caskets and decorative urns that have been specifically designed for keeping at home. These high quality items have a beautiful finish and can be displayed openly or kept in a private place. In time, the ashes can be buried, interred or scattered.

FOR INTERMENT & BURIAL

People often choose to bury the ashes of a loved one in a cemetery or natural burial ground. Forever Urns offer a variety of urns designed by handicraft specialists from around the world using natural materials such as plant fibre, paper, bamboo, seagrass, wood, clay and wool.

FOR SCATTERING

It is becoming increasingly popular to scatter the ashes of our loved ones, perhaps in a favourite location or across water. The scatter tubes are biodegradable and specifically designed to release the ashes smoothly, making it a simple and respectful process.

FOR THE GARDEN

Our garden pieces include urns made in stone. The natural materials blend into the garden and often become a living feature, growing a layer of moss or lichen. Forever Urns also offer living memorials; flowers and saplings which can be planted in memory of a loved one.

FOR WATER BURIAL

You can submerge the ashes in a lake, river or the sea as part of a water burial. These urns are made from suitable environmentally friendly materials including paper. They couldn't be more fitting and can biodegrade in water within three days.

URNS & KEEPSAKES FOR SHARING

These intricately made keepsakes come in a variety of styles and designs. They have been made in brass, copper, sterling silver and Vietnamese soft stone. Each one can hold a small amount of your loved one's ashes and are ideal for sharing and displaying.

THE GENUS

THE GENUS URN

Pondering what to do for his final year project, an idea struck Sam Graham, then a 20 year-old student of Product Design.

'My grandfather died when I was a child and my mum and aunty decided to have a memorial tree planted in a London park. His cremated ashes fed the soil and gave life to something enduring. My mum didn't want me to go to his funeral for fear it would be too upsetting, so the tree became very significant for me.'

Years' later Sam's nan died and, again, the family chose to plant her ashes with a memorial tree. 'It was a beautiful setting', says Sam, 'and a special place to visit, but getting the family together and making the journey wasn't always easy and I felt I wanted more of a connection'. That's when Sam hit upon the simple but clever idea of replicating the tree in the park; instead the tree was at home and the tree was portable. The Genus Urn was born.

A small ring filled with some of the cremated ashes sits inside the soil of a bonsai tree inside a beautiful urn. Over time the ring biodegrades and the ashes feed the tree, once again creating new life from old.

Julian Atkinson knew as soon as he saw Sam's idea that here was an innovative and touching new product that bereaved families would love. Sam feels proud to have a product go to market and hopes it will have a positive effect on people to keep their loved ones close as special and as unique as you.

PATHWAY PERSONALISED ASH CASKET

As part of our new Pathway service, we have developed a system as with our coffins where each panel can be designed separately. Whether each panel is designed from a different family member, or designed together using different panels for different periods or pastimes of a persons life, the Pathway service allows you to create any possible outcome with any possible design.
The panels can be printed onto a fabric material which is then padded to elevate it from the frame, giving the design and final finish more emphasise. The panels are designed to be fully biodegradable. Alternatively, you can have your panels printed on our FSC certified paper.

TOLAD SCATTERING POLE

After the cremation, what do families plan to do with their loved one's ashes? With the TOLAD (the Totem Of Life and Death), scattering ashes takes on a whole new significance.

Dignified farewell - one step at a time

A memorable route adds extra significance bringing back memories of the deceased.. The TOLAD passes from person to person throughout a planned walk, giving everyone a chance to share stories, thoughts and memories with each step.

The top can be filled with ashes, which is then scattered gradually over the walk. A small amount of ashes is scattered with each press of the pole, each step of the way, making it lighter and easier for children to take part.
